CITY IS READY
TO ACT AS HOSTArrangements For "Sherman Day"
Are Gradually Brought to a Close.

SPEAKERS STAND IS ERECTED

Plans Are to Decorate Business Section of the City in Bunting and Flags.

THOUSANDS ARE EXPECTED

The Weather Prediction is Favorable
Which Will Assist in Swelling the Crowds.

IT'S FAIR TOMORROW.

* Generally fair tonight and
* Tuesday. Slightly warmer on * Tuesday.

With the weather man in Rushville's favor indications are that tomorrow will be the biggest day which Rushville has enjoyed for many years. The weather today is not very conducive to large open air meetings, but the prediction tomorrow is to the effect that it will be one of those days which happens but once a year—and then in the month of October.

It is expected that a mammoth crowd will be in Rushville for "Sherman day." Country people for miles around are preparing to come to Rushville for the gathering of notable men. Many people from cities in this section of the State and people from nearby counties are planning to make a day of it in Rushville.

Arrangements are practically complete for the day. The speakers stand was erected on the west court house lawn today and the crowd will assemble on the lawn and into the streets. The stand will be decorated in red, white and blue bunting and flags artistically arranged all over it. Large pictures of the honored guests of the day will adorn the platform.

Wires were stretched from the decorative light posts today all over the business section of the city so that the merchants may use it for decorating purposes. Plans were this afternoon to literally wreath the business section of the city in bunting and flags. Arrangements were being made to string streamers of small flags across the streets and put the business part of the city in gala array. Many merchants today were engaged in decorating the interior as well as the exterior of their business houses.

The special car on the Indianapolis & Cincinnati Traction line, carrying the reception committee of twenty members will go to Indianapolis in the morning to meet Vice-President James S. Sherman, who will arrive there in the morning. He, together with Senator John W. Kern of Indianapolis, will be escorted directly to this city by the committee on the special car.

The special car will stop ten minutes at Morristown, which will be the only delay in the trip. James E. Watson promised Morristown citizens that a stop of that length would be made there in order for the people to get a glimpse of the honored guests and Mr. Sherman and Mr. Kern will speak five minutes each. The remainder of the trip will be made to this city and the car will be met at the depot by automobiles which will transfer the party to the home of Mr. Watson, where he will entertain with a light luncheon.

The school children of the city will make a demonstration during the program tomorrow afternoon. They will sing several national songs and will march to the court house from the three school buildings.

FOUR DAY'S RACE MEETING

Program Arranged For Events at Riverside Park.

A race meet will be held at Riverside Park October 20, 21, 23 and 24. The mile track at the Park is said to be one of the best in the State and some fine racing is looked for. The program includes a 2:20 trot, 2:30 trot, free-for-all trot and a 2:25 pace, 2:16 pace and free-for-all pace. The entries will close October 19, and the rules of the American Trotting Association will govern. Entries should be made to Harrie Jones.

GRABS LIVE WIRE
AND DEATH RESULTSHomer Frost of Cleveland, Ohio, Who
Was Related Here, is Instantly Killed.

MEAGER REPORTS RECEIVED

Mrs. Cary Clifford received word yesterday of the accidental death of her brother, Homer Frost of Cleveland, Ohio. Very meager reports of the accident have been received here but it seems that Mr. Frost was electrocuted in some manner. The accident happened late Saturday afternoon. Mr. Frost was an electrical engineer and was employed by an electrical company of Cleveland. According to the information received by local relatives, Mr. Frost took hold of a heavily charged wire which burned his hand severely and caused his death. Harry Clifford, who was a brother-in-law of Mr. Frost will leave for Cleveland this evening to attend the funeral.

GREENSBURG WILL INVADE RUSHVILLEGreensburg Aerie of Eagles Plans to Return Compliment by Running
Excursion to This City.

COMING FOR FALL HORSE SHOW

Already the Eagles Lodge of this city is planning for the excursion they will run to Rushville on one night of the big horse show and combination sale that will be held in that city on the days of October 18, 19, and 20, says the Greensburg News. While the exact date of the excursion has not been determined, some of the members of the order tell us that they believe that Thursday, which comes on the 19th, will be the best date and have every reason to think that this will be the one selected.

The Eagles feel grateful to Rushville and Rush county people for the manner in which they turned out to our jubilee and will endeavor with all their power to reciprocate. It is thought that with the co-operation of the business people and citizens, all of whom are anxious to take a part, an excursion from here will take at least five hundred people to Rushville for their fall entertainment.

TO TURN WHEEL
IN DECEMBERRushville Furniture Company Plans to Have Factory in Operation
Before End of Year

SAMPLES ARE BEING MADE NOW

Must Have Photographs of Work in Hands of Salesmen by January First.

The stockholders of the Rushville Furniture Company hope to have the wheels turning in their new factory building in the Stewart & Tompkins addition by the middle of December. It is hoped to have the factory in running order by the first of December, but that, the stockholders say will be an impossibility.

The work at the new factory building was started with a rush today. The building will be completed when the floor is all laid which work is being done now. Much of the machinery has already arrived and it will be only a few days before the work of installing the new machinery will be started.

All of the wood working machinery has been here for several days. The boiler arrived just a few days ago. It has been set in the boiler room all preparatory to the starting of the factory.

Bedroom suits alone will be manufactured by the company. Four or five designs have been planned by the company and will be put on the market as soon as possible. Due to the delay in starting the factory samples of the work of the factory are being made at the Pinnell-Tompkins Lumber Company under the direction of Charles Baker of the furniture company.

It is necessary for the company to have its samples made, photographed and in the hands of its salesmen by the first of January in order to make a good bid for spring trade for it is at that time that the traveling men start out with their spring line. For the reason that it would be next to impossible to get the samples through the factory and have them photographed by January first, it was deemed best to make them at the planing mill.

It has been the plan of the company to be operating the factory by next month so that the samples could be made there, but the failure of the council to furnish water caused a serious delay which could not be overcome.

Friday the stockholders let the contract for the heating system to three different firms. Work will be started on that at once.

That the company will operate on a large scale just as soon as a trade is established is evidenced by the preparations which the company has made in building such a plant as it has. A representative of the company who was here the other day bidding on a contract said that the plant has a capacity for a $300,000 business.

LOCAL MEN ATTEND.

A party of Rushville men attended the funeral services of Sidney Conger, the well known Republican who died in an Indianapolis hospital on Friday morning, at Shelbyville yesterday afternoon. A large crowd of politicians from all parts of the State were present at the service. The pall bearers were members of the State Board of Agriculture with which body Mr. Conger was associated for a number of years. The local party went in John Blackledge's automobile and included James E. Watson, Will M. Sparks, Ab Denning, A. L. Riggs and Mr. Blackledge.

THREATENS TO BURN DOWN BARNLunatic, Giving His Name as Boone, is Captured by Sheriff West of the City.

HAS MANY DIFFERENT HOMES

When he Talked of Setting Building on Fire Tenants on Gowdy
Farm Act.

Fearing that a lunatic would burn all the buildings on the Gowdy farm, west of the city, today Robert Newkirk, the tenant on the farm, called Sheriff Bebout and asked that he come and lodge him in jail. Sheriff Bebout went to the farm in an automobile and experienced no difficulty in arresting the lunatic and bringing him back to the city.

The crazy man said his name was Boone. That's about all that he seems to know about himself. He says that his home is in Anderson in one breath and the next instant he says that it is Philadelphia. He was very quiet in jail this afternoon.

Sheriff Bebout believes that the man is faking and that he is just as sane as the ordinary tramp. The sheriff believes that he was badly in need of food and that he decided on that course to procure it. The sheriff says that he has been asleep most of the afternoon. When asked what his first name is, he says Boone and gives the same as his last name.

The tenant on the Gowdy farm feared that he would do some damage in that part of the county. The man acted strangely and threatened to burn down the house, the barn and everything else in sight. The continued threats and his queer muttering caused Mr. Newkirk to act.

TWO MEN IN POLICE COURT

Bert Elder and John Bain Fined For Intoxication.

A fine of one dollar and costs was handed to two men this morning by Mayor Black in police court. Both were charged with public intoxication. Bert Elder was the first to appear and pleaded guilty. Elder was arrested Saturday night after creating a disturbance in the business district and objected to going to jail, but was finally landed there. Bain pleaded guilty to the charge. He is a "near" prize fighter from Cincinnati and was arrested by Policeman Wolters at the C. H. & D. depot. Both men went back to jail for eleven days.

MRS WM. MORGAN DEAD

Passed Away Saturday Night Following an Operation.

Mrs. William Morgan, 68 years old, a well known woman of New Salem, died Saturday night at nine o'clock at the Sexton sanitarium, where she underwent an operation for cancer of the stomach. Mrs. Morgan had been in ill health for some time and little hopes were expressed for her recovery. She was a sister of J. Milt and Joseph Stiers of this city. Her husband has been dead for six years. The funeral services were held this morning in the M. P. church in New Salem and burial took place in the cemetery there.

SUES TO RECOVER FUNDS

J. R. Bennett, Administrator, Alleges Improper Investment Made.

John R. Bennett, administrator of the estate of Wilson T. Dobbins, late of Lewisville has entered suit in the Henry circuit court against Claud Bartlett of New Castle, Luther F. Symonds, cashier of the Lewisville National bank, and the bank itself. The sum of $1,200 is demanded. It is alleged in the complaint that Dobbins, while in feeble health entrusted the sum of $950 to the defendant for investment and that a bond of the Indianapolis, Crawfordsville and Western Traction Co. was purchased for him. The bond was secured at a time when the defendants, so the complaint states, and was aware that the railroad was about to go into the hands of a receiver. For that reason the full amount of the money expended is demanded.

The other men who will be connected with the institution are: Dr. C. F. Voyler of Indianapolis, Dr. J. F. Gregg of Richmond, Va., Dr. A. J. Hood of Indianapolis, Dr. T. N. COLISEUM TO BE HEATED TONIGHTBecause of Cold Weather Chautauqua Board Decided to Erect Stoves in Building.

CONCERT TO BE GREAT AFFAIR

Arrangements were made this morning at a meeting of the directors of the Rush County Chautauqua Association to heat the coliseum for "Ye Old Folks Concert" which will be given there this evening. On account of the inclement weather it was deemed advisable to arrange to heat the building. It was feared that the cold would keep some few people away. All of the ventilation holes in the building have been closed up so no difficulty will be experienced in heating the building.

The indications are that a very large crowd will be in attendance, as the seat sale is very heavy. The home talent event is expected to be a very enjoyable affair.

European shoe manufacturers are unable to compete successfully with American skill in the designing of lasts and in the cutting of patterns.

NOTHING TO DO
NOW BUT WAITArrangements Are Complete For Republican Love Feast and Smoker
Tomorrow Night.

COLISEUM WILL BE HEATED

Conersville and Indianapolis Delegations Will Bring Brass Bands on Special Trains.

Late this afternoon it was predicted by members of the committee that has in charge the arrangements for the big Republican love feast and smoker which will be held in the coliseum tomorrow evening, that more Republicans will gather here tomorrow than have ever been together in one body in any city in the State outside of Indianapolis.

The weather indications for tomorrow are favorable and that alone is expected to swell the crowd to much greater proportions. There is no need to fear disagreeable conditions at the coliseum tomorrow night as arrangements were made today to heat the building for the meeting tomorrow night.

Small committees were assigned to various duties by the committee on arrangements today. Every effort will be made to make the guests of the city as comfortable as possible. Sections in the coliseum will be reserved for the delegations of which the committee has reached official notice.

Vice-President Sherman will be here for the afternoon non-partisan celebration while the other noted Republicans who will be here from all parts of the State are not expected to arrive until late in the afternoon. Joseph G. Cannon, James A. Hemenway and other noted Republicans are not expected before the middle of the afternoon at the latest.

It was first planned for the more prominent visitors to be assigned to homes in the city to be entertained at dinner in the evening. It has since been deemed best for the men who had expected to entertain their guests at home to take them to the Social club, where a course dinner will be served. At least one hundred visiting Republicans, including Mr. Cannon, Mr. Hemenway, Mr. Sherman and others will be guests at dinner there.

According to word from Indianapolis at noon today, the Marion club of Indianapolis, three hundred strong will arrive here tomorrow evening at six-thirty o'clock on special cars over the I. & C. The delegation will bring a brass band from Indianapolis to assist in the noise making. Others from Indianapolis besides the Marion club will come.

Connersville sent word to the committee today that a delegation of three hundred strong will come from Connersville on a special C. H. & D. train and will arrive here at seven o'clock tomorrow evening. The delegation will bring a band and a drum corps.

The program tomorrow night will be interspersed with several musical numbers, quartets, solos, and several readings. Jesse Pugh and J. Walter Wilson, local men who are employed on the Lyceum platform, will greatly enliven the program with readings and musical numbers. A local quartet will supply some music.

All of the old soldiers in the county are urged to meet at the court house tomorrow evening at six-thirty o'clock and march to the coliseum. They will be led by the Rushville brass band.

Philadelphia is to have a new $4,000,000 convention hall, to cover, with its gardens, fourteen acres.

Town Development

It is the opinion of the New Orleans Item that any city can be developed by adopting these three words and sticking to them: "Boost, Buy and Build."

Instead of howlers or doubters, a city can only be built by boosters who will boost all the time and everywhere—"incessant boosters, who are even at times a trifle unreasonable in the minds of the boosters of a rival town." Of course, when a booster develops into a buyer of home real estate, and then becomes a builder of a business or a home, that booster is a vital factor in the development of his town. And on the other hand, the near-citizen who does not boost, buy, nor build, fails of the highest development standard.

Recently a meeting was held by business men of Binghamton, N. Y., to hear discussed the subject, "How to boost Binghamton commercially in an honest way." The last three words were superfluous, because that is the only way any city should be boosted or advertised.

Any other way will result in disaster, worse than failure.

In writing of this meeting William C. Freeman says: "Every man at that meeting wore a little button in his coat lapel: 'Buy in and Boost Binghamton.' And every man looked as though that was his chief purpose in life. Business men who are keen competitors sat and joked together, but when it comes to the serious business of boosting Binghamton they forget everything but their pride in their city and their desire to be of help in making it a great business community."

This same condition is true in hundreds of other cities in this country. These communities are getting results in town development, because the spirit of 'Boost' prevails and the practice of the square deal predominates.

The Portland, Ore., Chamber of Commerce has just issued a new and handsome booklet in colors. It contains a large number of pictures of orchards, vineyards, saw mills, wheat fields and other interesting scenes about Portland. The book is printed in excellent taste and forms an expensive souvenir of the state.

Ten thousand attractive folders, setting forth the resources and advantages of Chester, S. C., have been published and are now being distributed by the Chester Commercial Club. The business houses of that town are enclosing a copy of the folder in every letter sent out of the city.

A booklet from the Tampa, Fla., Board of Trade is making a trip around the world. The booklet is being sent from commercial club to commercial club announcing its mission and carries a greeting from the Tampa Board of Trade. The commercial clubs to whom it is addressed paste in the booklet a postcard of some building or part of the city, after which it is sent on to the next stop.

A Booster from Waco, Texas, says:

Always on the Job

W. K. Kellogg
NONE GENUINE WITHOUT THIS SIGNATURE

I asked a prominent business man what he considered the best advertisement for a growing city. He said good water, good sewerage, a good reliable health board, good railroad facilities, and something to keep people in a place after you get them there—employment for laboring men, which means more factories. He said too often a small town spends oceans of money to advertise the place, but offers no real inducements to get factories to locate.

That's what we have been preaching for a long time.

A strength is from within and not from without.

Prosperity advertises itself in all corners of the country free of charge.

Something unique in the way of publicity work has recently employed by the Detroit Board of Commerce. The members had an official Board of Commerce automobile accompany the Wolverine Automobile club on its first affiliation tour. Throughout the run the official Board of Commerce car made a business of distributing literature especially prepared by the Board of Commerce and referring to the growth of the City of Detroit, its industries and commercial advantages.

Lamar, Colo., is to be advertised by means of an extensive electric sign. The Lamar Commercial club has erected near the passenger station of the Santa Fe a sign 300 feet in length and eighteen feet high. No phrase has been decided upon as yet. The club is offering a money prize for the most appropriate wording.

The Rochester, N. Y., Chamber of Commerce is securing some valuable publicity through a series of beautiful postcards. The cards show the very important projected improvements which are to take place in that city. One card contains a picture of the proposed "Civic Center," others the proposed "City Hall," the "Boulevard on the Aqueduct" and the proposed "Building on the Aqueduct." Sets of the cards are being distributed among the citizens of Rochester to mail to friends. Additional sets of the cards may be bought for five cents at all stationers, booksellers, newsstands and hotels. The Civic Improvement committee has made the request that the people of Rochester give these cards as wide a circulation as possible, that everyone in the United States may become more familiar. A thorough circulation of the cards is being secured in Rochester in order that the proposed improvements may become popular and be brought to a successful conclusion.

CONSERVATION OF SOIL TO BE TOPIC

H. E. Barnard, Chief Chemist for State Board of Health interests Governor.

MEETING FOR INDIANAPOLIS

Main Problem of Indiana Farmers Will be Discussed There
October 29.

H. E. Barnard, chief chemist for the state board of health, who recently returned from Kansas City, where he was a delegate to the national conservation congress, has interested Governor Marshall in a movement to hold a big conservation meeting in Indianapolis October 29, when the conservation of the soil of the state will be brought forward. "It looks as if we are about to solve the problem of the reduction of cost of getting farm and garden products from the producer to the consumer," said Mr. Barnard, "and it now behooves us to see to it that the farmer and gardener not only get all out of the soil they are entitled to, but that they keep up their soil while raising their crops. An industrial awakening along this line is required in Indiana."

Mr. Barnard has planned to have four chief topics discussed in the proposed meeting. They are, soil erosion, or waste to the surface through washing, soil fertility, rotation of crops and the saving of nitrogen now lost through the wasteful methods of disposing of sewage and other farm and city wastes.

"Nitrogen is present in rich virgin soil in great quantities," said Mr. Barnard, "and is taken off when the crops are harvested. A very small percentage of this nitrogen is consumed when the crops are used as food, and should be returned to the soil instead of being sent down the river, shipped abroad in the various forms it now assumes in our exports, or permitted to accumulate in spots where it can do the land owner no good."

"There are certain crops, notable among which is clover, which by their growing, restore nitrogen, to the ground. Many farmers have learned this, and are now rotating their crops. But they need to know more about it. I believe that annual meetings of such nature as we propose can be made of great benefit to the farmers."

"After all, the question of production is the biggest question before the people. The problem of reduced cost to the consumer can be taken care of and will be taken care when the people realize they can do it."

Mr. Barnard has been giving much attention to the problem of the industrial use of sewage handling, hundreds of thousands of dollars can be saved to the land owners annually. As it is, Mr. Barnard said, the material is thrown into streams to be carried from Indiana to the Gulf of Mexico, where it is irretrievably lost.

and the farmer, if he be progressive, makes up for the loss by the purchase of commercial fertilizer, which is nearly all imported.

TUESDAY EDITION.

The "Old Reliable" Republican Newspaper of Rush County.

Monday, October 9, 1911.

Rushville as Host.

Rushville will be host to multitudes of people tomorrow and it is well that Rushville people of all descriptions and kinds do their utmost to entertain the city's guests in such a manner that they will return to all parts of the State the praises of Rushville.

It has been some time since this city has had such an opportunity to appear before visitors. It's well to be all dressed up nice and not forget our table manners.

Rushville may have many desirable things it can display. Rushville has improved wonderfully in the last two years and it is perfectly fitting and proper that every Rushville man, woman and child point out some of Rushville's advantage while we have the audience.

Such occasions as tomorrow do not come in the life of Rushville very often. There may be times in future years that such a notable gathering of public men will be here—but they will pass through on a sleeping car.

So it is the duty of all Rushville to go on dress parade tomorrow. The Rushville Retail Merchants Association has shown considerable interest in the welfare of the city and is largely responsible for entertainment which has been provided for the people of the city and county and its guests tomorrow.

So it's up to Rushville to make good and there is no reason why it should not.

The tendency of the Rush county Democratic organization and some few Democratic newspaper over the district to attempt to spread the story broadcast that the Republican love feast and smoker which will be held tomorrow evening is a very select affair and that only those who are invited are welcome is a thing much to be deplored. That an organization representing a national party should descend to such tactics appears on the face of it to be shameful.

The organization is well acquainted with the fact that the Republican committee in charge of the love feast intended from the very first that every Republican should be welcome. The committee sent out personal invitations to all of the leading Republicans in the State regardless of their opinions or differences. As great a number of the rank and file of the party was reached with invitations as was possible within a limited space of time and with limited funds. It would have been a gigantic task to mail a personal invitation to every Republican in the State, and more than that, it would have been an impossibility.

The same insinuation could be made concerning the manner in which the Democratic organization invited its guests to the district meeting here at the same time, but we feel sure that the Republican organization would not consider such a course, even to retaliate. The Democratic organization sent out personal invitations, as did the Republican committee, but at a much later date, after they had followed up the initiative of the Republican committee.

That such a falsehood has been carried about the State is much to be deplored but it is to be expected, when past acts are considered. Many stories which emanated from local sources were rehearsed over the State in the last campaign concerning James E. Watson, which were infamous, to say the least of them.

The Vali's palace at Tripoli was laid in ruins by the Italian bombardment, and the Vali may be thankful that he can sleep out of doors and avoid house cleaning.

Enforcement of the Sherman law throttles business, says George Perkins. No doubt a slightly tighter collar will prevent the swallowing of so many mergers.

The dispatches from Tripoli were wired from Djerba. This makes a jerky djolt in our ears.

The greatest naval display in our history takes place at New York Nov. 1, but every elevator boy will know all about the mistakes that were made in placing the armor belt line.

The fortifications of Tripoli might have been useful to prevent the boys from getting over into the orchard, but they do not seem of much use against modern guns.

The English Suffragettes are coming over to visit us, and if the features of their English campaign are reproduced here, Mr. Taft will have to tie down his door bell.

If the "spirit of the law" were to be observed by the city council it should not have been furnishing water to people outside of the corporate limits all these months. Councilmen objected to admitting the Stewart & Tompkins and the Belmont additions because it was a violation of the "spirit of the law" and for the same reason they thought that a water main to furnish fire protection for the Rushville Furniture Company should not be run outside the city limits. If that is a violation of the "spirit of the law," that particular part of the law has been violated for some time because the city has been furnishing water to many residents outside the city limits.

EDITORIALETTES.

All roads in Indiana, at least, will lead to Rushville tomorrow.

While the Democrats are holding their little te-te-te in the center of the city tomorrow evening, the Republicans will be doing things up in the coliseum. Although it may be at the outskirts of the city, the Republicans need plenty of room to expand. The Modern Woodman hall would not hold all of the pent-up enthusiasm.

On the other hand we see no reason why Democratic stalwarts can not find plenty of space in the dance hall.

The only danger, as we see it, is that they may get hilarious and slip on the slippery dance floor.

The attention given by the press to unhappy marriages indicate that a man never gets his name in the paper merely by sitting up nights worrying lest he may have broken one of the ten commandments.

Wonder if the sun's going to shine tomorrow?

Editor of a well known magazine says that to enjoy life we must eliminate the word must from our vocabulary. Yes, we must do that.

Those balloons in the Kansas City race didn't have anything on butter and eggs when it comes to breaking altitude records.

We have refrained from making any puns on the present little difficulty over in Europe but we can not refrain from mentioning that none of the foreign powers has pulled the wishbone yet.

Just for the sake of being an optimist we predict that tomorrow will be a swell day.

FALL FESTIVAL
GREAT SUCCESS

Large Crowd Attends on Last Day—
 Local High School Defeated
 Milroy at Basketball.

AUTO PARADE WAS FEATURE

The Milroy Fall Festival which closed Saturday night was a success in every way. One of the largest crowds of the three days was in attendance Saturday. A big parade of automobiles was the principal feature of the afternoon. Many former residents of Milroy in this city took advantage of the home-coming and paid a visit to their old home town.

The track event scheduled for Saturday afternoon were called off because of the rain. The basketball game between the local high school and Milroy was won by Rushville, 20 to 10. The Rushville five had little trouble in winning and took the game in an easy manner.

LOCAL AUTO PARTY HAS A FEW THRILLS

Young People in Jack Knecht's Machine Have Visions of Rolling Down Steep Embankment.

CAR HIT BY ANOTHER AUTO

The belated story of an automobile accident which occurred between here and Milroy one evening last week has just reached this city by way of the Greensburg News. Miss Estella Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Boyle and Jack Knecht were returning home in the latter's machine from Milroy, where they had been attending the fall festival when the accident happened. Mr. Knecht managed to get the auto back in the road after it had been hit by a machine coming behind and after it seemed imminent that the machine would be hurled down an embankment and all of the occupants injured.

A machine which the local people were unable to identify came up from behind, and without giving any signal whatever started to pass the Knecht car on the narrow road. The front part of the machine passed all right and the back wheel swerved in and struck the front wheel of the Knecht car, knocking the tap off. The Knecht car was sent down an embankment and was headed straight for a big tree, but Mr. Knecht managed to turn it back on to the road before it "turned turtle." Mrs. Robert Boyle's face was badly lacerated by the limbs of a tree striking her, and the remainder of the party escaped with a few minor bruises.

WILL BE A MOST EFFECTIVE FEAST

George Stout, in Indianapolis Star, Says Republican Meeting is Bound to be Success.

ABOUT DEMOCRATIC MEET, TOO

Declares They Will be Making Out Embryonic Plans For Whaling Finly Gray.

In the usual political column in the Indianapolis Sunday Star, George W. Stout writes of the political meetings here tomorrow and of other matters pertaining to the Sixth district:

In connection with the big Republican smoker at Rushville, Tuesday night, October 10, the hosts for that occasion emphasize the assertion that the occasion is not to be used for the booming of any person for any office, and that personal ambitions will not be allowed to intrude themselves on the assembled guests. In selecting the speakers for the occasion proper discernment and judgment has been used to good purpose. The prospect is that the smoker will resolve itself into one of the most enjoyable and effective party love feasts ever held in the State.

The Democrats of Rush county and the west end of the Sixth district expect to hold a smoker also the night of October 10. While the Republicans are enjoying felicity and inhaling the vapors of love at the coliseum the Democrats, at the Woodmen hall, Rushville, will be heeding the sage counsels of Senator J. W. Kern, and will be figuring on their embryonic plans for whaling the political stuffing out of Representative Finly Gray and Charley Beek of Richmond, candidate for district chairman. Among the Democrats of the Sixth it is the West against the East. It is now predicted that Lon Mull's candidacy for representative against Gray will be quietly set going at the Rushville meeting.

Continuing to peregrinate in the Sixth district preserves, it is announced in Hancock county that Robert F. Reeves of Brown township is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for representative. Mr. Reeves is an attorney of recognized ability, a speaker of unusual strength and a university man. He has vigor, personality, ability and aggressiveness. It is likely that Harry Strickland, former representative, will go after the nomination again. Strickland is not an easy man to down, but the friends of Mr. Reeves are aggressively confident, and they will make every effort to win. Strickland was all but defeated in 1910 by a young attorney hailing from an out township. There was much bitterness over the primary and loud talk of a contest. Strickland won out, and at the election was again close to defeat. The present situation indicates strongly that the anti-Strickland forces in Hancock are out this year to drub Strickland and to make their victory so decisive as to leave no doubt as to the result.

Senator Kern, by the way, will go from the Rushville reception to Vice-President Sherman to Chicago, there to take part in the Lorimer investigation. It is likely the Lorimer quiz will continue right up to the regular session of Congress. Senator Kern's vacation hopes have gone glimmering.

STILL HUNTING FOR BLIND TIGERS

Henry County Grand Jury is Thoroughly Sifting Charges Made by Knightstown People.

EDITOR DEEM ON THE STAND

The grand jury in session Saturday continued its investigation of the blind tiger cases in Knightstown, says the New Castle Courier. Among the witnesses before the body was W. K. Deem, editor of the Knightstown Banner, who has severely criticised the authorities for the lax law enforcement in his town. Before entering the grand jury room Mr. Deem stated that he knew of no evidence that would convict any person of violating the blind tiger law. He said that he had not been "below the railroad" in Knightstown for more than a year.

Among the witnesses examined Friday by the jury was Hon. George W. Williams of Knightstown, representative of Henry county in the State legislature and a well known temperance leader. Mr. Williams had had no evidence to offer. Before entering the jury room he made the statement that he had not seen a drunken man in Knightstown for more than a year.

what Pickwickian in nature and, furthermore, involved in incidents that are similarly Pickwickian. Dear old Billy is a gentle, guileless person of middle age who seeks refuge from a nagging wife by betaking himself to a boarding house at an English watering place. Articles of separation have been signed by husband and wife and these prevent the latter from annoying her former spouse in any manner. She may neither speak to him nor interfere with him. But under the agreement, she may appear at the same place, which she does. Designing women, under the impression that William is single, set their caps for him, but Mrs. William, touched by his misadventures, extricates him from his difficulties and vows that she will nag no more. In Mr. Hawerley's support will be seen E. H. Kelley, Harry Feding, Bernard Fairfax, Harry Lonsdale, Jane Parby, Ruth Tomlinson and others.

In this way giving him to understand how really true his better idea of her had been.

"Why, the old duffer is as happy as a house afire," said the boy. "Not to boast, I've done the whole thing up as well as I knew how. I've got him into that health resort you spoke of, and the girl seems to have got a regular education vice! She wants to study something, so she's going to school."

"Go on talking," the actress invited fluently. "I love to hear you talk Montana! Don't change your twang for this beastly English drawl, whatever you do."

"You have, though, Miss Lane. I don't hear a thing of Blairtown in the way you speak."

And the girl said passionately: "I wish to God I spoke it right through! I wish I had never changed my speech or anything in me that was like home."

And the boy leaning forward as eagerly exclaimed: "Oh, do you mean that? Think how crazy London is about you! Why, if you ever go back to Montana, they will carry you from the cars in a triumphal chair through the town."

She waited until she could control the emotion in her voice.

"Go on telling me about the little girl."

"She was so trusting as to give the money up to me and I guess it will draw interest for her all right."

"Thank you," smiled the actress, "you are terribly sweet. The child got Higgins to let her into my dressing-room one day after a matinee. I haven't time to see anybody except then."

Here Higgins made her appearance in the room, with an egg-nog for her lady, which, after much coaxing, Dan succeeded in getting the actress to drink. Higgins also had taken away the flowers, and Letty Lane said to Dan:

A Medicine That Gives Confidence make me sick." And asked.

"Mine, too?"

This brought a flush across the ivory pallor of her cheek. "No, no, Higgins keeps them in the next room." And with an abrupt change of subject she asked: "Is the Duchess of Breakwater very charitable?" And Blair quickly replied:

"Anyhow she wants you to sing for her at a musicale in Park Lane when you're fit."

Miss Lane gave a soft little giggle. "Is that what you call being charitable?"

Dan blushed crimson and exclaimed: "Well, hardly!"

"Did you come here to ask me that?"

"I came to tell you about 'our mutual poor.' You'll let me call them that, won't you, because I happened to be in your dressing-room when they struck their vein?"

Miss Lane had drawn herself up in the corner of the sofa, and sat with her hands clasped around her knees, all swathed around and draped by the knitted shawl, her golden head like a radiant flower, appearing from a bank of snow. Her fragility, her sweetness, her smallness, appealed strongly to the big young fellow, whose heart was warm toward the world, whose ideals were high, and who had the chivalrous longing inherent in all good men to succor, to protect, and above all to adore. No feeling in Dan Blair had been as strong as this, to take her in his arms, to lift her up and carry her away from London and the people who applauded her, from the people who criticized her, and from Poniatowsky.

He was engaged to the Duchess of Breakwater. And as far as his being able to do anything for Letty Lane, he could only offer her this politeness from the woman he was going to marry.

"I never sing out of the theater," Her profile was to him and she looked steadily across the room. "It's a perfect fight to get the manager to consent."

Blair interrupted and said: "Oh, I'll see him; I'll make it all right."

"Please don't," she said briskly, "it's purely a business affair. How much will she pay?"

Dan was rather shocked. "Anything you like."

And her bad humor faded at his tone, and she smiled at him. "Well, I'll tell Roach that. I guess it'll make my singing a sure thing."

She changed her position and drew a long sigh as though she were very tired, leaned her blond head with its soft disorder back on the pillow, put both her folded hands under her cheek and turned her face toward Dan. The most delicate coral-like color began to mount her cheeks, and her gray eyes regained their light.

"Will two thousand dollars be too much to ask?" she said gently.

If she had said two million to the young fellow who had not yet begun to spend his fortune, which as far as he was concerned was nothing but a name, it would not have been too much to him; not too much to have given to this small white creature with her lovely flushed face, and her glorious hair.

"Whatever is your price, Miss Lane, goes."

"I'll sing three songs: one from Mandalay, an English ballad and something or other, I don't know what now, and I expect you don't realize how cheaply you are getting them." She laughed, and began to hum a familiar air.

"I wish you would sing just one song for me."

"For another thousand?" she asked, lifting her eyebrows. "What song is it?"

And as Dan hesitated, as if unwilling to give form to words that were so full of spell to him, she said delicately: "Why, can you see a London drawing-room listening to me sing Presbyterian hymn tune?" Without lifting her head from the pillow she began in a charming undertone, her gray eyes fixed on his:

"From Greenland's icy mountains,
From India's coral strands,
Where Africa's sunny fountains
Roll down their golden sands."

Blair, near her, turned pale. There rose in him the same feeling that she had stirred years ago in the little church, and at the same time others. He had lost his father since then, and he thought of him now, but that big, sad emotion was not the one that swayed him.

"Please stop," he pleaded; "don't go on. Say, there's something in that hymn that hurts."

Letty Lane, unconscious of how subtly she was playing, laughed, and suddenly remembered that Dan had sat before her that day by the side of old Mr. Blair. She asked abruptly: "Why does the Duchess of Breakwater want me to sing?"

"Because she's crazy about your voice."

"Is she awfully rich?"

"Oh . . . I don't know."

"Letty Lane flashed a look at him.

"Oh," she said coolly, "I guess she won't pay the price then."

Dan said: "Yes, she will; yes, she will, all right."

"Now," Letty Lane went on, "if it were a charity affair, I could sing for nothing, and I don't doubt the duchess, if she is as benevolent as you say she is, could get me up some kind of a charity show."

Dan, who had started to rise, now leaned toward her and said: "Don't you worry about it a bit. If you'll come and sing we will make it right about the price and the charity; everything shall go your way."

She was seized upon by a violent fit

CATARRH OF STOMACH

Indigestion and Stomach Agony Quickly Ended.

If you went to thirty doctors and paid each his fee for a prescription for indigestion or stomach agony it is ten chances to one you wouldn't get such a good prescription as the one from which MI-O-NA stomach tablets are made.

How can such a thing be? you naturally ask.

Simply because the man who wrote the prescription from which MI-O-NA tablets are made knows more about stomach diseases than 96 per cent. of all the physicians in America, and he gets paid for knowing.

And when you can get a large box of tablets made from this doctor's prescription for only 50 cents, are you going to continue to suffer? Sold by F. B. Johnson & Co. and druggists everywhere.

"I Didn't Think You'd Know All This to a Boy You'd Known All Your Life."

of coughing, and Dan leaned toward her and put his arm around her as a brother might have done, holding her tenderly until the paroxysm was past.

"Gosh!" he exclaimed fervently, "It's heart-breaking to hear you cough like that and to think of your working as you do. Can't you stop and take a good rest? Can't you go somewhere?"

"To Greenland's icy mountains!" she responded, smiling. "I hate the cold."

"No, no; to some golden sands or other," he murmured under his breath.

"And let me take you there."

But she pushed him back, laughing now. "No golden sands for me. I'm afraid I've got to sing in Mandalay tonight."

He looked at her in dismay.

She interrupted his protest: "I've promised on my word of honor, and the box-office has sold the seats with that understanding."

By her sofa, leaning over her, in a choked voice he murmured:

"You shan't sing! You shan't go out tonight!"

"Don't be a goose, boy," she said. "You've no right to order me like that. Stand back, please." As he did so she whisked herself off the sofa with a sudden ardor and much grace. "Now," she told him severely, "since you've begun to take that tone with me, I'm going to tell you that you mustn't come here day after day as you have been doing. I guess you know it, don't you?"

He stood his ground, but his bright face clouded. They had been so near each other and were now so removed.

"I don't care a damn what people say," he replied.

She interrupted him. She could be wonderfully dignified, small as she was, wrapped as she was in the woollen shawl. "Well," she drawled in her voice, "I expect you'll be surprised to hear that I do care. Sounds awfully funny, doesn't it? But as you have been coming to the theater now night after night till everybody's talking about it—"

"You don't want my friendship," he stammered.

And Letty Lane controlled her desire to laugh at his boyish subterfuge. "No, I don't think I do."

Her tone struck him deeply: hurt him terribly. He threw his head up defiantly.

"All right, I'm turned down then," he said simply.

"I didn't think you'd act like this to a boy you'd known all your life!"

"Don't be silly, you know as well as I do that it won't do."

He did know it and that he had already done enough to make it reasonable for the duchess, if she wanted to, to break their engagement. Slowly preparing to take his leave, he said wistfully: "Can't I help you in any way? Let me do something with you for your poor. It's a comfort to have them between us, and you can count on me."

She said she knew it. "But don't come any more to the wings; get a habit of not coming."

On the threshold of her door he asked her to let him know when she would sing in Park Lane, and in touching her hand he repeated that she must count on him. With more tenderness in his blue eyes than he was himself aware, he murmured devotedly:

"Take care of yourself, won't you, please?"

As Blair passed from the sitting-room into the hall and toward the lift,

Mrs. Higgins came out hurriedly from one of the rooms and joined him.

"How did you find her, Mr. Blair?"

"Awfully seedy, Mrs. Higgins; she needs a lot of care."

"She won't take it though," returned the woman. "Just seems to let herself go, not to mind a bit, especially these last weeks. I'm glad you came in; I've been hoping you would, sir."

"I'm not any good though, she won't listen to a word I say."

It seemed to surprise the dressing woman.

"I'm sorry to hear it, sir; I thought she would. She talks about you often."

He colored like a school-boy. "Gosh, it's a shame to have her kill herself for nothing."

Reluctant to talk longer with Mrs. Higgins, he added in spite of himself: "She seems so lonely."

"It's two weeks now since that human devil went away," Mrs. Higgins said unexpectedly, looking quietly into the blue eyes of the visitor. "She hasn't opened one of his letters or his telegrams. She has sold every pin and brooch he ever gave her, and scattered the money far and wide. You saw how she went on with Cohen, and her pearls."

Dan heard her as through a dream. Her words gave form and existence to a dreadful thing he had been trying to deny.

"Is she hard up now, Mrs. Higgins?" he asked softly. And glancing at him to see just how far she might go, the woman said:

"An actress who spends and lives as Miss Lane does is always hard up."

"Could you use money without her knowing about it?"

"Lord," exclaimed the woman, "it wouldn't be hard, sir! She only knows that there is such a thing as money when the bills come and she hasn't got a penny. Or when the poor come! She's got a heart of gold, sir, for everybody that is in need."

He took out of his wallet a wad of notes and put them in Higgins' hands. "Just pay up some bills on the sly, and don't you tell her on your life. I don't want her to be worried."

Explaining with sensitive understanding: "It's all right, Mrs. Higgins; I'm from her town, you know."

And the woman who admired him and understood him, and whose life had made her keen to read things as they were, said earnestly:

"I quite understand how it is, sir. It is just as though it came straight from home. She overdraws her salary months ahead."

"Have you been with Miss Lane long?"

"Ever since she toured in Europe, and nobody could serve her without being very fond of her indeed."

Dan put out his big warm hand eagerly. "You're a corker, Mrs. Higgins."

"I could walk around the world for her, sir."

"Go ahead and do it then," he smiled, "and I'll pay for all the boot leather you wear out!"

As he went downstairs, already too late to keep an engagement made with his fiancée, he stopped in the writing-room to scribble off a note of excuse to the duchess. At the opposite table Dan saw Prince Poniatowsky, writing, as well. The Hungarian did not see Blair, and when he had finished his note he called a page boy and Dan could hear him send his letter up to Miss Lane's suite. The young westerner thought with confident exaltation, "Well, he'll get left all right, and I'm darned if I don't sit here and see him turned down!"

Dan sat on until the page returned and gave Poniatowsky a verbal message.

"Will you please come upstairs, sir?"

And Blair saw the Hungarian rise, adjust his eye-glass, and walk toward the lift.

(To be continued.)

STILL WEAK FROM HOT SPELL

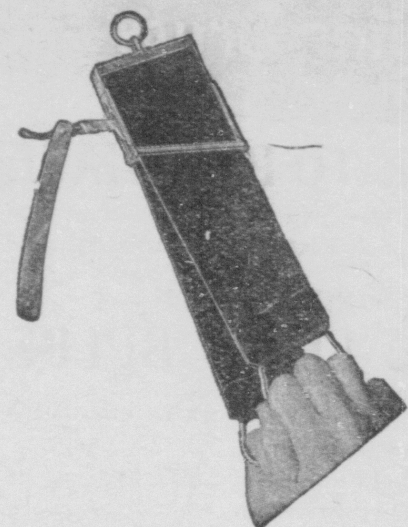

Physicians say that unusual and terrific heat of last summer did great damage to many people who do not even suspect it. There are many right in this town who are feeling weak, listless and discouraged, losing flesh and going into a decline on account of the strain of last summer.

A Red Bank, N. J., man, Mr. Walton Cullington, has found what to do in such cases. He says: "When I was badly rundown, growing weak and losing flesh, I took Vinol to build me up and make me strong, and I would not take anything for the good Vinol did me. I am all right now."

It would be a great blessing if all who are in broken health, whether old, middle-aged or young, could know that Vinol is the one thing they need to make them well and strong again. We can prove by people you know well that Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron preparation without oil, is the greatest blood builder and strength creator known, and we guarantee it to give satisfaction. NO MORE MONEY TO PUSH FIGHT

Muncie "Drys" Decline to Supply Further Funds.

REMONSTRANCE IS ABANDONED

Attorney For the Remonstrators in Bitter Fight That Has Been Carried on at Muncie Says That Because Those Who Have Been Financing Remonstrance Refuse to "Put Up," Case Will Not Go to Higher Court.

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 9.—Because, it is said, the men who have been financing the remonstrance fight for the "drys" have refused to put up any more money, the attorney for the remonstrators announced that the appeal of the Second ward remonstrance case would in all probability be abandoned and that the "drys" would abide by the decision of Judge Charles Pagot of Anderson, who a few weeks ago declared the remonstrance ineffective in the Second ward, and granted twenty-six licenses.

The "wets" have contended all along that the "drys" would not appeal to the higher court, and the announcement that the appeal would not be taken came as no surprise to them. The attorneys for the remonstrators, with the prospects of large attorney fees before them, have emphatically stated that an appeal would be taken as soon as the bonds could be prepared.

However, when it came time to make out the appeal bonds it is understood the men who have been financing the "dry" fight objected to putting up any more money. It is said the court costs and attorneys' fees already accrued will amount to over $2,000.

MINISTER IN JAIL

Sheriff Alleges "Crabite" Dispensed Beer at "Ice Cream Party."

Nashville, Ind., Oct. 9.—On charges of operating a blind tiger the Rev. David Graham, leader of the "Crabites," a religious sect of peculiar doctrines, languishes in the historic Nashville log cabin jail. The minister was arrested by Sheriff Calvin at his parsonage on Schooner creek, near Mt. Zion church, four miles south of here. The officer and individuals who gave information leading to the raid allege that the Rev. Graham gave an ice cream supper at his home, and that during the evening three cases of beer, three gallons of alcohol and two 5-cent dishes of the frozen delicacy were disposed of. The accused denies the charges and asserts he is being persecuted because of his religious beliefs.

The accused minister maintains that the Lord will be his attorney in the blind tiger case and that he does not fear the outcome.

COSTLY WRECK

Cars Leave Track and Crash into Elevator at Delphi.

Delphi, Ind., Oct. 9.—Fifteen cars loaded with farm machinery are piled in an entangled heap along the Wabash tracks near the heart of this city and the Ryan grain elevator is in ruins as the result of a costly wreck here. Two of the plunging cars crashed through the elevator, wrecking machinery and leaving the interior a demolished mass.

The train, a heavily loaded freight, ran into an open switch. The engine, pounding over the ties, toppled and fell an instant after the fireman and engineer jumped. Neither was injured.

Fifteen other cars demolished themselves and their contents as they crashed against the dismantled engine. The damage to the grain elevator alone is estimated at $15,000.

Child Fell Under Wheels.

Laurel, Ind., Oct. 9.—Dorothy Chance, five years old, while boarding the coach of a local train here, was thrown from the platform by the bumping of the engine, and fell beneath the wheels of a box car, which crushed both legs, just below the hips. She was hurried to the hospital at Connersville, but died shortly after arriving there.

Connecting Link Nearly Completed.

Morocco, Ind., Oct. 9.—Work on the Indiana & Northwestern traction line, through this (Newton) county, is in progress, and the promoter has announced that the road will be completed between the Kankakee river and Mt. Mrs. W. A. Wylie, 824 N. Arthur St., Rushville, Ind., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in our family and we have found them to be a splendid remedy for kidney complaint. A member of our family suffered from attacks of backache for several years, the trouble being caused by disordered kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to our attention and thinking they might prove of benefit, we procured a supply at F. B. Johnson & Co's Drug Store. THE TURKS PLAN BRISK FIGHTING

Going to Lure Italians Into the Interior.

WILL HAVE ADVANTAGE THERE

According to Announcement of a High Turkish Official Given Out to French Press, It Was No Part of Ottoman Campaign to Defend Tripoli, but Trouble For the Invaders Is Promised When Arabs Are Concentrated.

Tripoli, Oct. 9.—The Turks who fled from here have regathered to the number of 10,000 and are not far from the city. It is said that they have armed 10,000 Arabs. Speculation is rife as to whether they will act on the defensive or attack Tripoli before the arrival of the army of invasion.

London, Oct. 9.—Correspondents are enabled, by the restoration of the cable between Tripoli and Malta, which was cut Oct. 1, to get their dispatches through, giving accounts of the bombardment, but there is little fresh news. One says that on Oct. 3 news reached the fleet that four officers who arrived upon the steamer Tafna, which was stopped with the French consul general aboard, demanded to be put ashore. The admiral replied that it was impossible to let them land, as the bombardment was about to commence.

This information in conjunction with the Paris dispatch telling of the intentions of Fethi Bey, indicated that that officer did not reach Tripoli to take command, though the plan of campaign as outlined by him to the correspondent apparently is being followed.

One correspondent says the Italian gunners' aim was admirable. A few shots fired by the Turks ashore splashed into the water half way to the ships, and there was no reply from the shore batteries for fifty minutes after the first shot. Two officers who landed Oct. 4 found two great stores of ammunition at the Hamidie fort. On the morning of Oct. 5 an officer from the Verosa went ashore and blew up the ammunition. There was a terrific noise and a vast cloud of smoke spread over the town. On Oct. 5 over 2,000 sailors and marines landed. The Turks had vanquished.

TO SUPPRESS NEWS

Italian Government Threatens to Draw Censorship Tighter.

Rome, Oct. 9.—The Italians in Tripoli have not molested the Arabs, who seem well disposed. The Arabs in the interior are showing themselves strongly hostile. An official dispatch says that the warships entered the Gulf of Tabruk Oct. 4, and the garrison refused to surrender. The Vittorio Emanuele shelled the fort. Blue-jackets landed and defeated the garrison of the fort, hoisted the Italian flag and imprisoned the soldiers.

The Italian government is to make an appeal to the patriotism of the press and will request editors to prohibit the publication of news of the movements of warships, troops or of operations. Otherwise it is hinted penal action will be taken against the offenders. The censorship is more strict than ever, and there is no news direct from Tripoli except a laconic official summary.

The Italians found 100 dead Turks when they landed at Tripoli. Some had been killed by falling walls. The streets were utterly deserted and silent, but after several hours the natives began to reappear in little groups. They made signs of submission and said that they had been in the utmost misery. There had been five months of drouth, and a scarcity of provisions on account of the blockade. They begged rice and corn. The Italians fired 280 shells. One struck the house of the native interpreter of the German consulate and four were killed.

TURKISH PLANS

According to This Fighting Is Promised in the Interior.

Paris, Oct. 9.—Fethi Bey, who left Paris to take command of the Turkish forces at Tripoli, informed a correspondent on board the Tafna, while going to Tripoli Oct. 2, that he could not attempt to defend the city. Fethi Bey is quoted as saying: "Our plan is simple. Without coming to real fighting or being caught napping, we will delay the Italian landing as much as possible and then retreat to Djado, where there is as much water as the army will require. The troops along the Tunisian frontier and at Ghadames and Fezzan will also concentrate in the same district. Within a few weeks we will have a camp of 10,000 regulars and twice as many if not three times as many Arabs, well armed and disciplined. Then serious trouble will commence."

Spaniards Defeat Moroccans.

Madrid, Oct. 9.—Official dispatches from Melilla say that the Spaniards in a ten hours' engagement have defeated the Moroccans, who numbered about 5,000. Many prisoners, arms and cattle were captured. The Spanish loss was over 100.
